Program

Michigan has its Interlochen. Massachusetts has Tanglewood. Now Oklahoma has the Oklahoma Summer Arts Institute.

The Oklahoma Summer Arts Institute is a new cultural venture for Oklahoma, originated in response to community interest in a summer arts camp for young Oklahomans. Every summer, all over the country, talented young people attend summer arts camps in their home states where they study their crafts with teacher/professionals, meet other young people with similar artistic interests, and are encouraged to be leaders in the cultural life of their home towns.

The Oklahoma Summer Arts Institute was incorporated for the purpose of providing such summer opportunities for Oklahoma high school students, ages 14-18, to work with top professionals in the fields of Dance, Music, Drama, Visual Arts and Creative Writing.

The single most important feature of the Summer Arts Institute is the quality of instruction, which is directly dependent on a superb faculty and a student-centered curriculum. The instructors in each area of the arts have been and will continue to be distinguished artists from Oklahoma and the nation.

Students are encouraged to explore other art forms in addition to work in their own fields. Consequently, the Institute program is planned with interfacing between all the arts areas.

Every area of instruction is developed carefully and cooperatively with the faculty and advisory panels of Oklahoma artists. The student is the central concern of every program.

Classes are small in order to assure a close relationship with instructors. This contact with the artist allows personal direction as well as encouragement and the development of skills.

Public performances and exhibits, mini-concerts and demonstrations are an important part of the overall program. A festival of the arts called "Onstage at Quartz Mountain" will be open to the public on June 8, 9 and 10 and June 15, 16 and 17.
